Fresh look for cemetery wall

July 28, 2017
COOKTOWN

Cooktown cemetery's columbarium has been given a fresh look, with blank plaques installed on all empty spaces.

The columbarium wall has compartments that are used to place ashes, then covered by a plaque. Empty compartments in the columbarium wall had previously been left open. Council has covered all empty compartments with blank plaques, which can be replaced or engraved when the space is purchased. To apply to erect a plaque at the wall, a memorial or headstone, or for other cemetery applications or information, visit Council's website.

For more information visit Council's website at www.cook.qld.gov.au/services/cemeteries or contact Council's Environmental Health team via email at mail@cook.qld.gov.au or phone on 4069 5444.
